

Float or Sink?

Today we sorted objects into those that sink and those that do not. We made our predictions before going outside and dropping the objects into water. We recorded our results and compared them to our predictions. We found that the heavier objects sank and the lighter object floated. We noticed that all the metal objects sank whereas only one of the rubber objects sank while the other floated. We wondered if the shape of the objects made a difference so have decided to investigate this next week.
